RENO, NEVADA.

Dear sweetie,

Tuesday Evening.

Let's you get a little paint fixed ~~go~~ in your perfectly nice little head. This is Tuesday June 1st. all gone and goodbye, and I haven't heard a word from you since last Friday. Now I'm not wanting to cast any aspersions on your constancy, 'cause I know full well that there has been one written every day, but I would like to suggest that someday you release them. Just picture me yesterday, every place of business closed up, every phone number I ~~called~~ called, unanswered, and every chance acquaintance I made, a bore. wouldn't it have been just about the nicest thing in the world to have a big fat four-day diary show up over the horizon. Yes he it would. But it's coming to - maroon.
(Let's go over)

Put in a pretty busy day to-day.
Kutted around the office buildings till 3 o'clock when I took a little trip to Poly Hi just to see some familiar faces, but mostly to get in~~rest~~ vited out to dinner. Poor day today only got ~~two~~. (beathen, did you say?) The lawyer says he is anxious to have affairs all straightened up, and thinks he can do it in three weeks. From his interview I decided to stay here till he does. Tomorrow I start to hunt a job. I need a little change,!!!!

The Clausman is a wonderful picture.
It took three hours to run it with only a six minute intermission. People applauded through the whole show, and at tense spots got up in their seats and yelled. (Even the soldiers were "in tents") The picture is shown in the Auditorium the largest theater here, in which there is a $35,000 pipe organ. Beside the organ

RENO, NEVADA,

How are chances for you to receive a few more pent up kisses from me. Gosh if I didn't relieve myself like this every evening I'd have to hug the elevator boy as he takes me down in the morning, a world of love to you - my love, and oh just a lot of kisses and hugs.
