Sunday night.

My Good Dear Sweetheart, what hasn't been treated nicely at all, - I am sorry. You know what this wild new york life leads a fellow into tho'.

Yesterday I went to Ramsay with Miss Nelson, my use-to-be teacher, and when I got back the company had assembled to do me honor - ahem - Sabine was there, and I took occasion to deliver your message.

I'm glad New York is over.

It was sure some job telling the family history - past, present, and future - and eating all they tried to force down me. I'm sick from it now I swear I am.

The y.m. couldn't put me up today, and sent me to these bachelors apartments. I like 'em too but if my work is near the y.m. I want to stay there.

Took a walk after dinner, and what I saw of Boston makes me know I'm going to enjoy it immensely. It's a beautiful place - quiet and dignified - and every one seems so courteous. In all it's a direct contrast to dirty, blustering, uncivil N.Y.

If you knew how your four letters to my. served me, you'd feel glad in your heart Sweetheart. They were just like big egg matted milled out a ~~fiery~~ fiery hot, rusty, tired day. How I did eat them up, and put myself back to Reno, and want to be with you for just a few moments. I got to wandering at the per-pose of all this fuss. And fury, and figuring why not give in to my feelings and cut this one year more business. Guess maybe it's best tho'.

Dropped into the Old South Church, as I traveled this evening, and heard the evening service. It was beautiful too, and did me a world of good.

I feel like this is the ~~end~~ eve of a great day for you and me. All of our hopes and prayers have come to a focus now, and we may well return thanks for the first step.
Let's keep hoping, and especially praying, forever, Suealay, for the best of the biggest for us and ours.
Good night my love. Here ~~is~~ a hearts full of love and kisses for you alone. Love Joan.
