Friday night.

Refulus Love,

This evening I sat on the banks of the lake in the Glenway watching the sun go down, ~~and~~ the canoes slipped back and forth, and the only noise was their shadows following ~~over~~ over the waves. and I thought of you from the very first time I saw you, all the way through six and a half years to now, and even further - to next June, and now I'm happy.

Every different period meant some big change for me, and every change had you behind it. I wouldn't admit that then - I was too sure of you - but I will now, and I'll give you credit for all the big things that are coming, if hard work and a little courage will bring 'em.
That's how I feel tonight, and that's how I love you - with my whole life.
