Miss Ruth Pyle,
629 Lake St.,
Reno,
Nevada.

Tuesday morning

Hello Honey.

now get all this :-

It's 6.45 and here's what I have done. Sat up - awake - dressed - fell into line for roll call - washed up - had breakfast - fixed up my bunk - helped clean quarters - wrote to mother - and got this far on a letter to you. Some going eh what.

Took the bath yesterday - and the thing that impressed most was that we must all accept the commissions tendered us. Some of these soughty men around here are going to be disappointed when they are not made majors.

Then we had instruction in some of the first principles - facings - marching etc. - and later the company was organized with student officers. As I wished - I got no office. Former army men are doing that for the present and we who come later can profit by their mistakes.

and yesterday afternoon we had inspections of equipment - and what a job of polishing and brushing - and arranging according to absolutely fixed rules. when!! a fellow's life is surely laid out in straight lines.

Oh how good the grub tastes - and how I do tear into it. Sleep - Last night I was absolutely dead from 9.45 till someone shook me at 5.30 this a.m. Oh it's great, Sweeney.

Have written to mother along with this letter so that our purpose may be consummated, see!

Say, Sweeney. I can't say all I want to in these letters because there is absolutely no privacy here, and I know you don't want everyone here to know just what I think of you. maybe you'll come down sooner if you're held in suspense -
Soo - bye - S.T.
