Dear Rufus:

you know how the
sun comes popping over the Virginia
into the East of Reno and he smiles because he is doggone glad to be on the job, — well — Peter son
will come popping over the Sierras
to the West of Reno, doggone glad to be able to have the chance to lead
your footsteps in the direction of rhythmic synophany on Feb. 16!

I'll be there unless our Caterpillar
"Cat" has bitten

yours en touraig

Wed. 1 o'clock class.

☹ — ~~to~~ Greetings!

'Tis impossible to greet you any other way because all about me are my little classmates looking for knowledge on all sides. I've made a brilliant recitation, so Miss Wier may be off of me for a while.

you know what he signifies ~~it~~ without my saying ———— ! I miss you like de dickens. "In the spring a young man's fancy gently turns to — — —" this spring atmosphere together with the wonderful moon does get underneath my skin, and makes me dream & dream & dream about all the good things in store for us. Some I got 'em too, and something just tells me sure we'll be together soon. Even tho it is a lot of fun here, it all seems so transitory <sup>(see, I've been to church!)</sup> and I'm aching to get out to ~~the~~ regular office work.

Did I tell you I tacked to Prof. <sup>Wolter</sup> the other day about a job. He'd give me $50. a month "since salaries have been lowered" etc. etc. I thanked him for his kindness, but told him my price was $75.<sup>00</sup> for a new office + $90.<sup>00</sup> for an old.

He doesn't know it's 10 times ~~so~~ harder to work for him, to suit his whims, as for any <sup>other</sup> business man. I may fail in my threat, but he's not my Waterloo anyhow.

✓ ~~Last night~~ <sup>Last night</sup> I was a regular inverted harem. Three of the men at the house asked me to go ~~to~~ to the show with 'em, and I accepted. They thought I'd back out, but I "yaint" scint o' em. We had a good time too + they've asked me to go again as soon as I can.

I forgot Frank's letter, so here it comes now. An' goodbye to you love I am ~~yes~~ for today, and I'm going along on these wonderful days with my whole insides singing to you and loving you too.

Big squeeze!

Your Rufus (and all crosses
Rufus even tho not written. See?)
