

1917

Mr. Tom P. Walker
75 Main St.
Haverhill
Mass.

I'm in the Library.

Washington's Birthday 11:20 a.m.

Sweetheart o' mine -

The wind has been blowing almost a steady week now. It snows and rains sporadically - & it isn't a bit like our good old month of Feb.

Today was the day Helen Mitchell, Dutch Masters, Dreda, Vernon, Braw, Elsie, Rufus, and I were all a goin' horseback riding !! - damn the weather!!! - but we are going some time. Then Mr. Reamick & I planned a hike. That went hus' cause for 2 hrs. I've been studying for an evolution ex today at one.

I know lots of things now - why I'm more like a whale than a fish - etcetera.

Dammie, - I got 91 in that advanced psych. ex - gosh! I was ~~gladder~~ gladder'n ~~the~~ whale after he swallowed his Jonah.

Pretty soon I'm gonna quit making a fool of myself. Yesterday for yw some of us girls put on a district school stunt, & I was the old maid schoolmarm. You know. I was dollyed accordingly - the hair-do was the best. Six of the smallest girls dressed up like kids. The audience were the visitors - only it was hard to get things over cause everybody laughed so much. ~~off~~ afterwards some of 'em told me I was a missing my calling if I didn't become an old maid schoolteacher.

I guess not! Cause I'm going to strike for you just as soon as the price of potatoes lowers. That can't be long either if we keep working like we're doing now. ✂ ✂ ✂ ✂

Did I tell you that both Helen Mitchell and Mae Kimball made the basketball team? Also Ted Kemper & Isabel Slavin. The girls left last night - and we all went down to see em off. Then Marg. Kemper, Phoebe, Prof. Charlie, "Squeak", Geo., & I went to the Grand - and had a perfectly crazy time. When we got home your letter had come, and I went to bed happy and contented clean thru. Didn't you feel me kiss you goodnight?

Well, anyway, I played you liked it - and we woke up this morning just like we want to. All the N.Y. people best pull down their blinds when I met you - cause gee! it's going to be wonderful, dearie kid!

all my love

your own Sneaky