Sweetheart o' mine. Tuesday morning - was too sleepy to write last night, and am nearly that now. The whole crowd from the office went to Wentworth farm in a big sleigh for dinner. Then we sang and danced till 10.30. Gosh it was cold going down - but great there, and on the way home too. Had a great time.

Tonight Alice Webster and I are going to a movie entertainment at the North Church, and just now Herb called up that a crowd was going to Bold Pate Wed. Eve. Shall I called off. Too much money, with John McCormack next week. Ohm-m-m that will be nice.

Had two great letters from you yesterday, and a peach from mother. She has our plan all soped out to herself and thinks it is a great one. You just wait till Eva gets a school, and I'll be running an account at the engravers. (over one minute)

I'm glad Uncle Sam straightened out my mail, so you can know that I didn't neglect you all that time. I couldn't do that - sure enough.

Soak - bye - I've got to keep this kid busy. Dog gone it he's the most inaccurate guy I ever knew. Have to go over every thing he does. Hope he can learn -

Kisses a million to you quick - quick - some one might look - They're all right here only you can't see 'em.
