Easter night

Rusie Sweetheart.

well here we are
again my lady, spending a half hour together
before Tommie retires.

Did lots yesterday
and today - I'll have to tell it to you. Yesterday was rainy, and so I decided to go into Boston to see what I could see. Being Saturday afternoon I could not accomplish all I hoped to in the way of lining up a berth on the aviation corps when the proper time comes to do something. I did, however, get in touch with the office of Lieut. Murray who interviews applications for that branch, and was so encouraged that tomorrow I am going to 'phone for an appointment to talk the matter over with him some time this week. Took the opportunity also of visiting the office, and meeting some of my friends there.

Today I sang two services,
and enjoyed it very much.
Have decided to take a bit of training. One lesson a week at $1 per will get my solos in good shape, and I can improve my ways a great deal.

This afternoon I intended to write. I did write a couple of letters, then I thought that since Mr. Roberts is sick I'd go up to visit them. Went up at 4.30, left at 5.30 for church. Then went back there for supper, and have just come back. I got real well acquainted with them, and besides we went over the war situation together. Mr. R. and I have nearly the same ideas about our liability - that is about investigating all the possibilities so that when the time comes we can the more easily decide what is best.

We will probably investigate the matter of arsenal service together. He's a good scout and I feel that I've helped myself a great deal by becoming well acquainted with him.

This has been a beautiful day for Easter.

bright and sunshiny altho' a bit cool. The millinery display was fair, and we in the choir could see it to very good advantage. My easter finery was the suit I got in N.Y. just a year ago. Hope to have a new suit this week, but don't know how I am going to pay for it.

The pictures that we took at camp were finished yesterday. I'll want to show 'em to the fellows before I send 'em along you'll get them soon, however.

now a wonderful lovely good night from hungry, hungry Dommie before I turn in. It's the spring time the eats the hardest into the heart, and the thoughts of this other anniversary we are about to celebrate. A year ago in heaven - today as hungry as can be - Oh I want you all for my very own - and I'll have to leave you soon - Just you wait - dreams do come true - and ours will because we've sacrificed mightily for it. Oceans of love to you - Sweetheart - and the wildest sort of kisses we can concoct to go with it.

Quick quick someone's looking* L.T.
