Tuesday evening.

Sweetheart, Sweetheart, Sweetheart!
That's what the orchestra is playing at this very minute, now isn't that apropos? The reason I'm over here is because the Sales Dept. of the company are having a dinner and I'm invited.
Last evening the Gas. Dept. had one here, and it was staged beautifully. There was a most marvelous "welcome" case which I had to come. There is a good bunch here that we're going to get along fine with. and I think they like their new boss too.
Well the furniture's here and fills the house up beautifully except for a breakfast set and a Davenport were fixed fine, and it looks fine too.

I know ~~you~~ were going to like it.

The furniture had some scars on it. ~~and~~ I really don't think Geo. Brooks did a whole of a job. It can be fixed up however and I know you won't weep too much - in fact not at all.
I didn't find the rug we had in the bedroom yet, but it might be in one of the boxes.

Or maybe you sold it. suppose the silver is coming by express. Haven't unpacked any of the dishes or boxes yet because there is another days work on the kitchen.

This is the next morning and I'm on my way to the house with Ines.
