

well it's Sunday and I don't care what happens. I've put off this history from day to day till some fine time I'm going to find myself leaving without the thing completed. No! No! No! (wild tearing of hair - back stage - and a screech from R.C.) No - I'll finish it! and there you are.

Now I very seldom ask favors of you - M' est ce pas! - "Quick" - "Quick" - (That ain't a favor it's a command that you must honor and "obey that impulse"). Well about this favor - you see it hardly becomes a hardy salutation to court the assistance of the weaker vessel (whatever that is) but I'm forced to ask you to lay off Charlie - he was coac-rated in the second argonne - when he was cut off at the front (of my lip) R. L. P. and "R. A. P." no more. And another thing - will you send me some music? (you've guessed it - Brat you brat! - the secret of this favor.)

well here's how it is - I couldn't have you send me any before this because I've lost every thing I owned three times over already - but now we need em, and ask you to send 'em post haste. Send some that I can sing and that Doc can play an obligato to - we used to have several like that. send some popular pieces that are not too trashy - send "I Love the Moon" - "I know of Two Bright Eyes Shining" - "Somewhere the Blue bird" etc - etc - about 25 or 30 - and then for Doc send the following for the violin - ~~Bolero~~ - Carl Bohm. ✓ O Introduction + Polloina - do.

~~Minuet in G~~ - Beethoven ✓

Melodie -

and a bill for it all, 'cause I couldn't think of my wife paying good American Dollars when all I have to pay is rag. marks. And send 'em right tonight too - or tomorrow or next day or whenever you can, and oblige - see! well now it's time for my wienerschütz, what do
